Lefkara village is known for its lace, the famous 'lefkaritika' lace (which is included in UNESCO's representative 'List of Intangible Culture Heritage of Humanity'), and for its silverware. Legend has it that Leonardo Da Vinci himself came here in 1481 and bought an altar cloth of the traditional lace, which he donated to the Cathedral of Milan. A similar embroidery cloth was given to the Cathedral by the Mayor of Lefkara on 19/10/1986 when the Cathedral was celebrating 600 years of existence.
